Recently, three recommendations for continued employment of individuals [] were disapproved by the Director. The Director and Mr. Golby believe that such [] raise significant questions of suitability and security. The degree of potential difficulty in finding a suitable assignment is one factor to be considered. Perhaps most important to the Director, however, is the presence of a unique potential to the Agency. It is apparent that if the possession of this unique potential is not stated and supported, disapproval for continued employment is likely.
